Teaching Notes:

This resource can be printed and used to make each student a booklet, each student in a class could make a page to put together as a class book, or you could just print the pages that your class is working on in order to put the book together.

The process I like to do is:

1. Introduce the letter.
2. Read the sentence together. Model using the dots to reinforce 1-1 correspondence.
3. Students write and color to complete the page. It helps to heavily model the first few times you do this routine so children know how to complete them.

Please note that these spring themed vocabulary words include some very content specific words, like equinox and zinnia. The intention is not that children would be able to read or remember these vocabulary words as an objective, but rather to expose them to these vocabulary words.
